

Website Assessment

Description

On April 22nd 2015, Google started to incorporate the mobile friendliness of a website in their ranking algorithm. According to Google, "this change will have significant impact to search results" and is being referred to as mobilegeddon.

We want to ensure your website is ready for this change, and that's why we're offering a free website assessment.

As part of your assessment we will evaluate your current website and discuss any aspects of your site that are not ready for mobile.

Delta Digital will review:

- Website navigation
- Mobile usability
- Mobile SEO optimization
- Landing pages and feedback forms

If you'd like this free assessment, please fill out the form so that we have all the information we need to review your website prior to your call.
