

Website for Building and Construction Companies

Description

tick-in-the-box150Construction companies should not be left when it comes to having an appealing website. Although fewer sales may be negotiated digitally and much of your work may come from the public sector, it is still important to maintain the brand and convey quality and class. Here we showcase a new website theme specifically for the construction and building industry. Choose any of the following variants of the same theme:

- Home transparent
- Home extended
- Home video header
- Home full screen

It is a website that any builder or construction engineer would be proud to own. This construction website is based on WordPress, of course, and is fully responsive. We take care of installation, design and hosting with the first year free on all WordPress conversions from your existing website. We'll even give you a scrap value for your old code when you trade it in. Take it for a test drive today>>
